

Question 30

Data ethics is part of applied ethics, it guides the moral collection, processing and use of information. It provides guidelines that ensures that technology respects human rights and does not magnify societal inequality

Examples of unethical practises

① Discriminatory Hiring Algorithms

The problem is that it disproportionately disqualifies job candidates

② Unauthorized data harvesting and social profiling

- Violates personal privacy

③ Misinformation

- Erodes societal trust in media

Question 31

Data governance refers to a structured framework of policies, processes, roles and rules used by organizations to manage, secure and ensure data quality

Key components of data governance are: -

- * Policies and standards
- * Clear roles and ownership
- * Data quality
- * Data protection and compliance
- * Technology tools