

Question 35

The concept that I found interesting is the concept of Data Mart. I thought that there is only data warehouse only to find out that there is a specialised way of producing data for different units

Question 36

The most difficult concept to understand is that of data modelling. For me to understand, I had to consult IBM resources and also had to draw the models

Question 37

I can see a lot of changes in my everyday life because as a small business owner I will be able to automate my business using AI